Silence is the communication process for deaf Prisoner in Prison because Deaf Prisoner are giving full limit than Hearing Prisoner. I feel that Deaf Prisoner should be equal and have communication ~~accesses~~ as hearing Prisoner by giving them a Video phone in Prison to communicate with their loved one at home. Communication is very important for everyone else out there. I think Deaf Prisoner have right to have Prison all over the Nation.
I use Video phone to chat and text with my deaf friend and families. Without Video phone or any communication, now families or friends know what happened or how they are doing, I believe video phone should be given to Deaf Prisoner not just let them use TTY because they don't have the right of communication by using and writing for the operator to come and being connected and later they have time limit and end of their call I believe as a hard - of - hearing person need to have a chance to be treated fairly equally, and thinking both hearing and deaf prisoner to be treated fairly equally, and have accessible to receive their love all the time.

Dear Commissioners,

My name is Brittany Peredo and I am a student at Polk State College of Technology for the Delt. I am writing in response to the Federal Communications Commission's request for comments on telecommunications for deaf and hard of hearing, and disabled loved ones.

Today I had an opportunity to use a tty for the first time. I felt confident using it, but too late about five minutes. I was able to answer the questions that were asked.

In my experience, telecommunications access has been the most effective method for me because it was better for individuals people is important because they should be able to communicate with their loved ones that deaf individuals people and their loved ones have equal telecommunications access.

The commission has the authority to ensure that individuals with disabilities have equal telecommunications access and we are calling upon you to ensure that prisoners and their families are able to communicate with each other in a timely and accessible manner. This is also to ensure that individuals with disabilities have equal access to telecommunications services.

Accesible and fair technology is available and available accessible that fair technology is not same.

Sincerely,

Brittany Peredo
